The Dangling Conversation chords
Simon & Garfunkel 1966 (Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme)

Capo III

C G D G D C C G Em

 C G D
It's a still life water color
 C G D
Of a now late afternoon
 C G
As the sun shines through the
Am
curtain lace
 G Em
And shadows wash the room
 G
And we sit and drink our coffee
F
Cast in our indifference, like
E
shells upon the shore
 D
You can hear the ocean roar
 C G D
In the dangling conversation, and
 G D C
the superficial sighs
 G Em
The borders of our lives

 C G D
And you read your Emily Dickenson
 C G D
And I my Robert Frost
 C G
And we note our place with
Am
bookmarkers
 G Em
That measure what we've lost
 G
Like a poem poorly written
 F
We are verses out of rhythm,
E
Couplets out of rhyme
 D
In syncopated time

 C G D
And the dangling conversation, And
 G D C
the superficial sighs
 G Em
Are the borders of our lives

 C G D
Yes we speak of things that matter
 C G D
With words that must be said
 C G Am
Can analysis be worthwhile
 G Em
Is the theater really dead?
 G
And how the room is softly faded
 F
And I only kiss your shadow, I
E
cannot feel your hand
 D
You're a stranger now unto me

 C G D
Lost in the dangling conversation,
 G D C
And the superficial sighs
 G Em
In the borders of our lives
