1. I got some free advice just the other day from an older relative of mine
He said, "You know, I dig what you do, but I think you're wasting your time, yes I do
Because drivin' around and gettin' drunk with your friends in a van every night, yea that sounds like a lotta fun
But you need a plan B, 'cause it ain't gonna last long past twenty one"

Chorus: Oh, you'll never make enough money And no one cares about the things you say
You're gonna wake up someday Man, you'll wish you got a job
Spend half your life in that Chevrolet Driving up and down the freeway
Someday, when you're too old to play Man, you'll wish you got a job

Interlude: |A |G - A |G - A |D - C | [Repeat 2x]

2. Bummed a cigarette from a guy when I was in Manhattan last week, and I told him politely, "thank ya"
Then with this hollowed out look, he turned and said "you know, for twenty five years I've been a banker
And ya know, in all my many years of life, I suddenly feel obliged to impart to you this free piece of advice
You must invest in your future," I said, "thanks for the cigarette but I think I know the rest"

Chorus: [Repeat Chorus]
